SOME IMPORTANT NOMINATIONS

President Harrison has gratified the republicans of the country by making some excellent nominations of ministers to foreign countries. No doubt many were surprised to hear that Robert T. Lincoln was given the English mission, not because he is not qualified for the important diplomatic post, but because his name had not been mentioned for the position. But the nomination is an excellent one. Mr. Lincoln is a man of education, having graduated with honors at Harvard, and since then he has reached an honorable position at the bar. There was some surprise that President Garfield should have nominated him for secretary of war, because many doubted his ability for so important a cabinet place. But the army, and in fact the whole country, soon learned that Robert Lincoln had not only a strong business mind but special qualifications for the department of war. He proved a splendid executive officer. His ability was coupled with integrity and wisdom, and all he did was approved by the country. No man since the days of Stanton, filled the war office with greater credit to himself or with more honor to his country than Robert Lincoln. A young man of his attainments and good sense and patriotism, and dignity, will in no wise misrepresent the United States in next to the highest diplomatic court in the world.

Our democratic friends will not say a single good word for Murat Halstead, who has been nominated minister to Germany. He is the editor of the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette, and stands in the front rank of American journalists. He is a great man but has not always been wise. Notwithstanding his wrong-headedness, he is a man of an excellent character, and his ability in one will question. There are some things which Mr. Halstead no doubt wishes he had never written about certain public men, some of whom have passed away; but his prejudice and bitterness are things of the past and he is a wiser and a better man, and will make a good minister to the German court.

The readers of the North American Review will be glad to hear that A. T. Rudyke Rice, editor of that popular publication, has been appointed minister to Russia. This is a first class appointment. Mr. Rice is not a politician, in the usual meaning of that term, but he is a scholar and a man of fine ability, and will honor his country within the gift of the president.

The Irish republicans who fought so nobly for Harrison and Morton fell, will rejoice over the nomination of Patrick Egan, of Nebraska, for the Chilean mission. He is a lively Irishman and a rattling good republican. But aside from all this, he is wholly fit, both by scholarship, ability and general warmth, to represent this country in Chili or any other mission of that class.

The nomination which will be especially gratifying to the republicans of Wisconsin is that of Colonel John Hicks, editor of the Oshkosh Northwestern, for the Peruvian mission. It pays ten thousand a year, and as an extraordinary minister plenipotentiary to Peru, Colonel Hicks will be a credit to his government. He is an accomplished gentleman, a man of business character and in all things that go to make up a fit man for such a mission, he is abundantly qualified for the important office.

A correspondent writing from Florida gives some interesting particulars of the recently undertaken coral and sponge industries which are existing great attention among coral fishers all over the world. The coral reefs of Florida are examined the richer and finer reefs are discovered to be. The coral beads of the Mediterranean have lain upon the decline, both in the quality and quantity of their supplies, while those near Key West seem to be inexhaustible and are giving employment to an army of fishers. Valuable sponges are found in great numbers in the coral reefs, many of them of great superiority. These discoveries will add immensely to the wealth of Florida, which is fast becoming an industrial center as a climatic paradise.

The outlook for ballot reform in Connecticut seems to be good. A bill cleverly modeled after the Australian system is regarded with special favor by the judiciary committee, though there is likely to be opposition to it on the part of some politicians. The principles which should be embodied in the law are obvious to every student of the matter, and the question of expense to the state in printing the ballots or to the townships in providing the needful polling places should be of minor importance when weighed against a pure and unperished suffrage.

It is an interesting fact in metaphysics that the better the President's appointments, the louder is the howl of the democratic press about the disgraceful and unprecedented raid of office seekers on Washington.

THE WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

Considerable Business Disposed of in the Two Houses.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, March 28.—The house passed the following senate bill:

Giving circuit judges $400 per year for expenses.

Regulating admission to the state public school at Sparta.

Creating a fund for school libraries.

Allowing women to insure their husbands' lives.

Relating to improvements or discontinuance of highways.

To purchase United States flags for schools.

Prescribing course at state university.

Lieutenant Governor Ryland notified the senate that when it reconsidered the vote stating veto of will bill yesterday, it was out of order, as the veto cannot be considered, and, therefore, notwithstanding the fact the governor has since become convinced that the veto was unnecessary, and the bill was almost unanimously favored by the senate, it is killed.

Senate passed another bill over Governor's veto, being a "bill to vest in Joseph and Charles Oshkosh" title to certain real estate in Oshkosh.

The following bills were concurred in:

Relating to proof of title.

Regulating drawing of juries.

Giving county judges discretionary power in preserving testimony.

Relating to fees of court commissioners.

Making principal contractor liable for liens against sub-contractors to the amount of indebtedness of former to latter.

MURDERED IN A HOTEL.

An Old Man Found With His Throat Cut at Smith's Creek, Mich.

PONTIAC, Mich., March 28.—Two strangers went to Smith's Creek, a small station about twelve miles from here, last evening, and engaged rooms at the Linden house. One of the men was about 50 years of age and the other considerably younger. The latter left the hotel early in the evening and it is supposed he came to this city.

The older man did not appear this morning and the room was broken into. He was found lying across the bed with his throat cut from ear to ear. No knife was found near him, but some broken crockery was found in the room covered with blood, and it is thought that with the latter the deed was committed. In the pockets was found $102 in cash, but nothing of value was found. The authorities are making every effort to locate the young companion of the dead stranger, but so far without result.

Found with Her Throat Cut.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Mrs. Mary Short, a Norwegian, married to a colored man, was found in her room with her throat cut from ear to ear. John Short, the husband, who is employed at the Briggs house up to 3 o'clock, called at the armory a little after 5 o'clock, saying that he had found the door of his room locked a short time before. His own key would not enter the lock because there was another key inside. So he climbed up and peered through the transom, which was partly open. His wife lay motionless on the floor with her head just inside the closet in the room. Officers at once repaired to the room and forced it open. The woman lay in the position described, and blood was still flowing from the horrible gash in her throat. At her feet lay a razor covered with blood, and she was lying in a large pool of blood. As Short told a story which was not altogether satisfactory, he was detained for the night in a witness cell. The case will be further investigated, though Capt. Bartram inclines to the theory of suicide.

Received a Life Sentence.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Scott Walker told the jury in Judge Tukey's court yesterday that how he came to kill Lester Reynolds Feb. 18 in LeRoy's State street gambling saloon. Reynolds, he said, snatched a silver 25-cent piece from Walker's pile of money on the "rags" table. Walker reconstituted and Reynolds, saying he would fix the defendant, put his hand to his hip. "I allus knowed he was a bad nigger," said Walker, "an' gemmen, I just drew my gun an' shot him. If I didn't do it I reckon he'd git it to me."

At 9 o'clock the jury returned a verdict finding Walker guilty and fixing his punishment at imprisonment for life.

Robbed a Michigan Man.

UTICA, N. Y., March 28.—About 5 o'clock last evening three men placed a revolver at the head of John Wilbur, of Saginaw City, Mich., in a train on the West Shore railroad, a few miles east of this city, and compelled him to give up his money, amounting to $125. Three men answering to the description given by Wilbur have been arrested at Canastota, N. Y.

Stolen Jewelry Recovered.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The police today arrested three negroes on suspicion of having committed a robbery at the residence of Lieut. Tyler a few days ago. One of the number, Waters, made a confession and took the police to the spot where the plunder was concealed. Fifteen thousand dollars' worth of jewelry was recovered; also a lot of valuables which had been stolen from the residence of Col. Britton.

Terminated with a Shotgun.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 28.—Theodore Noa, a German, and John Johnson, employed on the oyster schooner Thomas N. Moore, engaged in a fight to-day. Noa was knocked down twice, when he seized a shotgun, fired upon and killed Johnson.

A Wife-Murderer Gets Ten Years.

LANCASTER, Pa., March 28.—Calvin M. Dellinger, who was found guilty of murder in the second degree for drowning his 19-year-old wife in Conestoga creek, was sentenced this morning to the eastern penitentiary for ten years.

Horrible Crime in Kentucky.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., March 28.—Gone Turner's house, near Bear Wallow, was burned last night. Turner and his family perished. It is supposed some of the Bowdler faction did the deed to avenge the killing of Bush, Monday.

JOHN BRIGHT IS DEAD.

Sketch of the Career of the Great English Philanthropist and Statesman—Other Deaths.

LONDON, March 28.—John Bright died at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at Rochdale. His strength was so slight he was unable to rally from the dangerous condition reported Tuesday, and he continued to fail gradually until the end came, painlessly and quietly, as if he were sinking into peaceful sleep. His four sons and three daughters, who had been hastily summoned when Mr. Bright's alarming symptoms appeared Tuesday, were present at his death-bed.

The death of Mr. Bright leaves a vacancy in the parliamentary representation for the central division of Birmingham. Mr. Bright was last returned as a Liberal Unionist to oppose the district, which was created in 1885 when Birmingham was split up into seven single-membered divisions, has never been polled on the home rule question. The filling of the seat will now result in a most interesting contest.

MR. BRIGHT'S CAREER.

John Bright was born near Rochdale, England, Nov. 18, 1811. About 1840 he became a personal and political friend of Richard Cobden, and gained distinction as an orator of the Anti-Corn Law League in advocacy of which he addressed many public meetings.

He was elected a member of Parliament for the city of Dunham in 1843, and was re-elected for Manchester in 1847. Cobden and Bright became the principal leaders of the Manchester school, or party, which was not identified with either of the great political parties, but advocated a pacific foreign policy and electoral reform. Mr. Bright was defeated in the election of 1857 because he had opposed the Crimean war, but he was elected the same year by the Liberal Unionists of Birmingham, which city he continued to represent for many years. During the great war in the United States he expressed his sympathy for the Union cause in several eloquent speeches. After the reform bill of Russell and Gladstone had been rejected by the House of Commons in 1860 Mr. Bright advocated the cause of electoral reform by vehement speeches at immense public meetings in London, Manchester, Birmingham and other places. Referring to these speeches the European Times remarked: "In all Mr. Bright's previous career he has never put forth an extraordinary power, such floods of the very highest order of eloquence on the great question of the day, as during the last four months."

In 1867 the friends of reform triumphed and secured the passage of a bill granting the right of suffrage to every household in a borough. Mr. Bright entered the cabinet formed by Mr. Gladstone in 1868, as president of the board of trade, and resigned the office on account of ill health in May, 1871. When Gladstone returned to power in 1880 Mr. Bright became Chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, but resigned in 1882 when the government began war in Egypt. His separation from the bulk of the Liberal party on the Irish question is the only incident in his career which really dimmed its splendor. He had always been an uncompromising champion of Irish wrongs and justified turbulence and disorder in view of the treatment of the nation by the government until the franchise bill brought eighty-six Irish members into the House, when he became completely alienated from the cause and proved one of the most powerful opponents to Mr. Gladstone's scheme of Home rule. Mr. Bright was married in 1839 to Elizabeth Priestman of Newcastle. His wife died in 1841 and he was afterwards married in 1849, to Margaret Leach, daughter of a banker at Wakefield. He leaves four sons and three daughters.

EX-CONGRESSMAN MAHONEY DEAD.

The Brooklyn Ex-Representative Expires at Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Ex-Congressman Mahoney of Brooklyn died at the Arlington hotel at 8:55 Wednesday morning. He has been steadily sinking for some time and his end was expected.

Peter Paul Mahoney was born in New York June 25, 1848. He received his education in the grammar schools of that city, and followed the dry goods business there for several years. He never held public office in New York, but was elected to Congress from Brooklyn in 1886 on the Democratic ticket, and was re-elected in 1888.

The Duke of Buckingham Expires.

LONDON, March 28.—The Duke of Buckingham and Chandos is dead. The Duke was born in 1823. He was lord-president in 1896-97, Secretary of State for the colonies in 1897-98, and Governor of Madras from 1875 to 1880.

SCRANTON'S BIG BLAZE.

Property Worth Nearly Half a Million Dollars Consumed by Fire.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 28.—The massive stone building known as the Library block, on Wyoming avenue, with a four-story annex, owned by Celand, Simpson & Taylor, wholesale and retail dry goods dealers, and the H. S. Pierce estate, was gutted by fire last night. In the Pierce portion of the building the stocks of Williams & McNulty, wholesale and retail carpets and wall-paper, was badly damaged by smoke and water. Celand, Simpson & Taylor had a stock valued at $300,000. The insurance on the building and contents was $160,000. The upper floors on Wyoming avenue were occupied by attorneys and insurance offices, all of which are sufferers by fire and water.

Dan Needham Whips Gilmore.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 28.—The prize-fight between Danny Needham of this city and Harry Gilmore of Chicago came off early this morning northeast of the city. The contest was very scientific and the men were evenly matched. In the twentieth round Needham succeeded in knocking Gilmore out, winning the fight. Gilmore did the most of the leading until the eighteenth round and forced the fighting continually. Needham sparred cautiously, and watched his antagonist with a view to either wearing him out or finding an opportunity for one of his famous rushes. He won the fight by his great generalship.

Robert Todd Lincoln is the oldest and only surviving son of the martyred President. Mr. Lincoln was born Aug. 1, 1843, in Springfield, Ill. Robert went to school at Springfield, and after getting through his primary studies was sent to the Illinois State university. He went East in 1869, in 1870 entered the Phillips academy at Exeter. After a brief attendance at this school he was admitted to Harvard university as a member of the class of '64. Graduating in due time he entered the law school of the university, from which he retired after a brief stay to accept a commission as captain of the United States army and assistant adjutant-general on the staff of Gen. Grant. He witnessed the fall of Petersburg and the pursuit and capture of Lee's army. After Petersburg was evacuated he was sent back with an escort to bring his father, the President, up to the front.

He was at Appomattox and witnessed the surrender of Lee. The next day he started with Gen. Grant for City Point. Arriving at the James river they took a steamer for Washington, and reached that city April 14, the day of the assassination. Robert was first to give the President's personal news of the surrender of the Confederacy to the Southern district of Georgia; Robert V. Bell, assistant commissioner of Indian affairs; William B. Hodge, Jr., postmaster at Marshall, Ill.

The nomination of Lewis Wolcott to be Governor of Arizona and of John H. Norwell to be consul-general to London were reported favorably from the committee, but under individual objection they went over until the next executive session, when they will be confirmed.

Inspectors Paid by Contractors.
WASHINGTON, March 28.—John B. Quackenbush, one of the contractors for building the tunnel, testified before the Lydecker court martial that the lining and the tunnel had been let to subcontractors. He learned after the investigation that some of the Government inspectors had received pay from his firm for over-time work, and had been borne on the pay rolls under fictitious names. Neither he nor his partner were aware of this at the time.

To Test the Scott Exclusion Act.
WASHINGTON, March 28.—The Supreme court will today hear arguments in the case of Chao Chan Pang, appellant, vs. the United States. This case involves the constitutionality of the Scott exclusion act. The appellant claims that he was born in the United States and is entitled to citizenship. The government claims that he was born in China and is not entitled to citizenship.

Good News for Boomers.
The President Issues His Proclamation Throwing Open Oklahoma Lands.
WASHINGTON, March 27.—The President has issued a proclamation opening to settlement under the recent acts of Congress the lands in the Indian Territory ceded to the United States by the Creek and Seminole Indians. By terms of the proclamation the lands are only open to homestead entry, and sections 16 and 36 in each township are reserved for public school purposes. The proclamation goes into effect on April 22 at noon, and all persons are warned not to enter upon or occupy any of said lands before that time under penalty of being forever debarred from acquiring any lands or rights therein. The lands comprise all the western half of the Creek nation, and that portion of the Seminole nation ceded to the United States by the treaty of June 14, 1866.

The commissioner of the general land office has issued order establishing two land offices in the Oklahoma territory. The office for the western district is to be located at Kingfisher's stage station and for the eastern district at Guthrie.

The two districts are divided by the range line running through the territory north and south between ranges 3 and 4 west of Indian meridian. Each district contains approximately the same number of townships.

Gov. Beaver's Nose Felled.
WASHINGTON, March 24.—The trouble between George A. Armes, a retired officer of the army, and the managers of the Harrison inaugural parade culminated yesterday afternoon in an encounter in the rotunda of the Riggs house between Major Armes and Gov. Beaver of Philadelphia. During which the Major pulled the Governor's nose. The Governor was not hurt, but he was angry, and stood steadily himself against the hotel counter he seized his crutch, which serves him in place of one leg he lost behind him during the war, and aimed a vicious blow at his enemy. Armes dodged him and struck one of the pillars of the hotel rotunda. A second blow also missed its mark and further proceedings were stopped by the hotel policeman, who placed Armes under arrest. He was released by the direction of the hotel manager, however, and escorted out doors exclaiming: "I pulled his nose, anyway."

Appointment Confirmed.

AMONG THE LEGISLATORS.

A DAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN SEVERAL ASSEMBLIES.

The Illinois Anti-Pool Bill Killed—Gov. Board Advises Disregarding a Vote—Michigan Solons Take a Recess.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 28.—The stock yards fight was precipitated in the House Wednesday morning, and for a time it was hot and furious. Mr. Paddock's bill to place stock yards under the control of the board of railroad and warehouse commissioners was up on second reading, and Mr. Hoppin offered an amendment to give the authority to the live stock commission. This instantly aroused Mr. Paddock, who inquired of Mr. Hoppin if he "introduced that proposition as a friend or an enemy of the bill." Mr. Hoppin said he presented it as a matter of right and justice. Mr. Paddock continued that he was unfriendly and that it was just what the stock yards people wanted. This caused a warm personal controversy between the two men which was unintelligible to a majority of the members, and the Speaker pro tem, Mr. Crafts, was compelled to call them to order.

An effort to strike out the enacting words of the bill was defeated, and Mr. Hoppin's amendment was put to a vote. The bill was defeated, and the House adjourned.

Mr. Wisner was knocked out for the third time with his pool bill. While Speaker Matthews was in the chair, Mr. Wisner endeavored to get his measure back from the table. After some parleying the Speaker indicated to him that there were two ways in which he could reach his point. One was to move a reconsideration of the approval of the journal of Friday; the other was to move to put the bill on the calendar. The Speaker said he thought the latter course was preferable because it was less business to meddle with the record of proceedings when there was no flagrant or fatal error. Mr. Wisner could not take this broad hint, however, and moved to reconsider the approval of the journal of Friday. The bill was put on the calendar.

The Senate passed the general appropriation bill by a vote of 18 to 12, and put several new ones on the calendar. One of these introduced was by Senator Eckhart appropriating $10,000 for the Eye and Ear Infirmary at Chicago. Senator Thomas' bill for the erection of a memorial hall on Dearborn park, Chicago, passed.

The House worked upon the order of bills on second reading, advancing several, including Mr. Whitehead's new appellate court bill, Mr. Crafts' bill to require written opinions in cases in appellate courts, and Mr. Wells' labor bill. Both houses adopted a joint resolution for adjournment from Friday noon to Wednesday evening.

GOV. BOARD WAS WRONG.
He Asks the Legislature to Fast a Vetoed Bill Over His Head.
MADISON, Wis., March 28.—The usual quiet of the Senate was disturbed Wednesday morning when Senator Mead arose and opposed the passage of a certain bill. He said he interposed an objection to the bill with some reluctance and with no little fear of consequences. The bill he said was a pet scheme of Attorney General Estabrook. Some days ago Senator Mead said that as a member of the Senate judiciary committee he voted against a measure of the attorney general when that official suggested to him that "Mead had better look out in opposing my bills. Everything has to pass through my hands, and I might cut him short some of these days."

Gov. Board has acknowledged that he was in error in vetoing the bill, and he made no objections to its passage over his head. Both Houses are down to business now and will work hard to adjourn sine die April 12. The bill prohibiting locomotive engineers from drinking ardent spirits either on or off duty is causing much comment, and a strong fight is expected. Engineers consider it a personal thing that they can understand why train-dispatchers, conductors and others are not embraced in the list.

MICHIGAN SOLONS.
Both Houses of the Legislature Considered Contested Election Cases.
LANSING, Mich., March 28.—Both houses of the Michigan Legislature met Wednesday night for one week's recess on account of the spring elections. The House voted to unseat Mr. Lindlow, Democrat, from St. Clair county, on account of fraud, and declared Frank McElroy elected in his place. The committee appointed to investigate the contested election case against Senator Rents reported without recommendation and the Senate gave up the whole day to arguments. A bill appropriating $8,000 for the State weather service was voted down.

At a meeting of the commissioners appointed to erect monuments to the soldiers' regiments at Gettysburg it was decided to ask the Legislature to enlarge the appropriation for the dedicatory expenses from $5,000 to $10,000. June 12 is the date decided upon for the dedication.

Trying to Elect a Senator.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 28.—The total vote for United States Senator cast today in joint session of the Legislature was 105. Necessary to a choice, 53 votes. Received 43 votes, Wetmore 31, Arnold 13, Colt 5, scattering 11. An adjournment was then taken.

—The present term of the public schools will close on to-morrow afternoon—two weeks' vacation right in the middle of the year.

—The members of the Masonic fraternity, their families and invited friends, held a social dancing party in Masonic hall last evening.

—Eldon Casaday, of Madison, son of Asa and Justice J. B. Casaday, is spending a part of his spring vacation in this city, the guest of Fred Hanchett.

—It was the home of Charles F. Turner, which was made glad by the advent of a baby girl, and not that of Charles F. Glass as stated in last evening's Gazette.

—The Good Templars will give an entertainment and supper at their rooms next Monday evening. Don't think because this comes on April first that it will be an April fool, for it will not.

—Spring is flaunting her signs to the breeze one by one. The latest is the opening and putting into operation of the city fountains on the corner Exchange square and in the court house park which is being done to-day.

—The Recorder will hardly make political capital by throwing mud at this or that republican candidate. It must remember that among the democratic list of candidates men can be found who will not compare with Cesar's wife.

—Attend the entertainment at the Congregational church Friday evening of this week. J. A. Blaisdell, of Senior class, Beloit college, will deliver his contest oration. Good music. Admittance free. Ice cream and cake will be served in the parlors.

—The ward tickets placed in the field by the republicans of the several wards are worthy of the united support of not only the republicans but the voters of the entire city, and it now looks as though the republicans would have an easy time in the race.

—Mr. Warren Safford, of the town of Janesville, hitched his horse in front of Christman's grocery store yesterday afternoon, and while he was away some careless driver ran into his cart and nudged in pretty thoroughly demolishing it.

—The "Assembly" will give an entertainment in the Sunday school rooms of Court Street church next Friday evening, consisting of some good recitations, singing by Mr. O. E. Kimberley, Mrs. Sweeney, Miss Florence Dye, and piano solos by Miss Hattie Benedict. After the entertainment ice cream and cake will be served in abundance. Admittance ten cents.

—The Beloit City Guards held a competitive drill last evening, Maj. M. A. Newman acting as judge. The company did some creditable work but showed the lack of careful drill by the inaccuracy of some of their movements. After the contest Maj. Newman declared Lieutenant Rogers the prize winner. The prize consisted of a medal presented by some friend of the company for the occasion.

—Janesville will receive her share of the honors at the State University this year. Miss Nellie Smith, daughter of Ald. and Mrs. D. P. Smith, of this city, is one of four selected from the Modern Classical class to deliver commencement orations. This is an honor which nothing but hard patient study can achieve and Miss Smith may justly feel proud of the high standing in her classes which she has attained while at the university.

—The name of Ogden H. Fethers, Esq., of this city, is mentioned in a complimentary manner by the Washington correspondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel, in connection with the Montreal consulate, for which there are several applicants, prominent men east and west. It is not known here that Mr. Fethers is seeking that or any other appointment; yet if President Harrison is looking around for a true and capable man to fill a public trust, he need go no further than Mr. Fethers.

—Mr. D. H. Rust and Mr. D. J. Jameson have been appointed general agents for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Milwaukee, for Southern Wisconsin, with headquarters in Janesville. These gentlemen have recently formed a partnership for a general insurance and real estate business and will open an office about the first of April. The firm is a strong one and the Gazette speaks a good word for them, trusting they will receive a fair share of patronage.

—The Gazette calls attention to the advertisement of Mills Bros. in another column. The firm is composed of practical men, who have devoted their lives to the business. They carry a stock of goods that would be creditable to any city and are prepared to do all kinds of work in their line. They are sole agents for the Florida Steam Boiler and the Florida Hot Water Heater. They do all kinds of steam fitting and water service, as well as plumbing. 100 dozen glass globes in great variety have just been added to their stock. Their prices are low. Call and see them.

—The Madison Journal:—A committee of the State Pharmaceutical Association, consisting of Messrs. Hollister, Oonrath, Hemstreet and Beckmann, in company with Prof. F. B. Power, yesterday conducted an examination of the senior class in pharmacy at the university, and to-day are holding the regular quarterly examination for other applicants who desire to obtain the necessary legal qualification for the practice of pharmacy. The senior pharmacy class at the university is larger this year than at any previous time since the organization of the department, and the graduates are constantly in demand by those desiring competent pharmacists.

—There was much amusement last evening at the second ward democratic caucus. The clans had gathered ready for the strife at the usual hour. J. H. Burns was on hand and had a keen edge on the movements of John M. Bauman. It was finally discovered that Ed. Connell, the wheel-horse of the second ward democracy was absent, and it was deemed advisable to skidmark around and find him, that the caucus might be advised as to the true course to pursue. Connell could not be found, and about eight o'clock D. O. Ward called the "meeting" to order and the machine was put in motion. Without Ed. Connell to engineer matters, a second ward democratic caucus is as amusing to witness as a jack's lantern show.

It is never too late to mend a sprained ankle, swollen limbs, stiff neck, or any pain or ache, if you use that sovereign remedy, Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain. Price 25 cents.

"He is well paid that is well satisfied." This is a happy man up town said when he threw away his empty bottle of Salvo Syrup, the favorite.

When Macbeth ironically asked, "Canst thou minister to a mind diseased?" he little knew that mankind would one day be blessed with Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

By giving the blood, this powerful salve gives tone and strength to every function and faculty of the system.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 27.—The directors of the Pennsylvania railroad re-elected the present officers of the company.

THE WEATHER.

At one o'clock p. m. the register was 45 degrees above zero. Clear with west wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 26 and 39 degrees above zero.

For the cure of colds, coughs, and all derangements of the respiratory organs, no other medicine is as reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It relieves the inflammation and consumptive, even in advanced stages of disease, and has saved innumerable lives.

UNIVERSITY NEWS.

THE LAST HAPPENINGS OF THE WINTER TERM.

MADISON, Wis., March 26, 1889.
 M. P. Richardson, of Janesville, was elected president of the Hesperia literary society Friday evening. Hesperia is one of the largest societies on the hill and Mr. Richardson is to be congratulated on the honor he has received.

Hesperia has selected debaters for a public debate with the Stoughton literary club, to take place in Stoughton next term.

The winter term closes to-day, and the spring term opens Wednesday, April 3d.

A company has been formed for saber drill. Thirty sabers have arrived, and drill will commence the first of next term.

W. F. Dockery being attacked with a severe case of mumps, was compelled to take his vacation somewhat earlier than he had expected.

Messrs. Hanchett and Casaday have placed themselves on the front rank of University pedestrians by their unprecedented frat yesterday. They walked to Middleton and return, a distance of sixteen miles, in three hours and a quarter.

BLUNDERING GUESTS.
 People whose Thoughtlessness Causes Pain to Those About Them.

An American New Yorker, much given to hospitality, had concealed among the flowers on his dinner table an artificial mocking-bird, which, at the pressure of an electric wire by his foot, flutters and gives a single musical chirp.

Strangers are amused by the ingenious toy, but his family and friends understand that the bird only flies and sings when a subject is broached which is likely to prove offensive or painful to one of the guests.

A Russian boyar in the days of Catherine carried out a similar conceit by a rougher method.

"When Demetrius Paulovski," says tradition, "sat down to dine, a trumpet stood beside him with his eyes fixed upon him. If any one at the table made a remark disagreeable to the prince, the trumpet, at a signal from him, sounded a warning note, and the guest remained silent during the meal. If the offense was repeated the trumpet sounded twice, and the guest was led from the table and his tongue cut out."

The highest toast cannot resort to such radical measures, yet how often he sits in helpless agony longing to silence the tongue of some garrulous guest, who is insulting his neighbor, in his innocent desire to amuse him. He descants, perhaps, on the tortures of death by hanging to the daughters of a suicide, or makes occasion to ridicule the Jewish race to a host with drooping eyelids and an aching nose.

"A pleasant feast," says old Mirable, "is not a matter of meats and fruits and wines alone. Its guests must be more carefully chosen than the viands, and dangerous topics as anxiously excluded as rank dishes."

With all our care, however, there often occur moments at the dinner table, when some well-meant, unfortunate mistake plunges the guests into confusion, and the host who has made it into misery.

There are few readers, probably, who cannot recall some innocent error, the mere remembrance of which, when alone, sends the shudder blood through their veins.

What would they not give if the mocking-bird had uttered its warning chirp when the dangerous subject was touched.

In that of the mocking-bird, perhaps, the best safeguard for a company who do not know each other's antecedents, is to avoid all personal gossip, or discussion on foreign lands, or religious, or political, or social topics, such as party difference or religious creeds. A dinner table is not the field for self display or acrid discussion.

You do not wish to belabor or convert your neighbor between the soup and coffee, but to convince him that the world is a hindler and happier place than he thought it before he sat down beside you. And pleasant trifles, skillfully treated, can convey to him that meaning, just as a bubble, made of water and air, will reflect all the tender beauty of earth and the glories of the heavens.

AN ABSENT MINDED JUDGE.
 An Incident of Justice Lamar's Strange Forgetfulness.

Justice Lamar's absent-mindedness has been the theme of a good many newspaper paragraphs, but the latest incident of his eccentricity is worth telling. The other day he purchased a house, and leaving the office of the real estate agent with the deed, the abstract and other papers under his arm, he started for his home. Getting as far as Brentano's book store he wandered in, and picking the rollick doctored upon the counter, was soon sipping a lot of new books. After spending a half hour or so he purchased a copy of the Political Science Quarterly and wended his way homeward. A gentleman who had met him in the real estate office and had noticed that the package of documents was wrapped in a paper of peculiar color, visited the bookstore in the afternoon and happened to notice the package on the counter. Calling the attention of the clerk to it, he asked if Justice Lamar had been in during the day. "Yes," was the reply, "he has been here quite a while this morning."

"What," suggested the gentleman, "he left the package here, and you had better put it away until he calls for it."

A week or ten days passed, and the gentleman met Justice Lamar on the street and accosted him, saying: "I see you have purchased a house."

"Yes," was the reply; "got a good bargain. Come and see me."

"What have you done with the deed?" "It is at my house."

"Are you sure?" "Certainly; I carried it home the day the purchase was consummated."

The gentleman smiled, and asked the Justice if he would not walk around to Brentano's book store with him, as he wanted to show him some publications.

Getting the innocent old gentleman into the store he called upon the clerk for the deed, and opening the package before the jurist he showed him the deed for his house and the abstract of title. Mr. Lamar folded up the title, made a profound bow and left the store.

REPUBLICAN CITY TICKET.

P. PULAR CANDIDATES WORTHY OF THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PEOPLE.

The work of the republican city convention on Wednesday afternoon is recognized as satisfactory to the republican party, and the several candidates nominated will be cheerfully supported at the polls on Tuesday next.

Alderman D. P. Smith was selected as the candidate for mayor. There is no man in Janesville more highly esteemed nor one likely to inspire more general confidence among the people. Mr. Smith is not only one of our leading business men, but has for years been actively engaged in business interests here in Janesville, and has in many ways been closely connected with the laboring classes, among whom he is very popular.

He has served a term of two years in the city council, and while his course in that body has been liberal, he has steadfastly endeavored to conform his actions to the requirements of the city charter. For the past year he has been at the head of the park committee, and his care and attention has added much to the appearance of not only the court house park but to the much neglected park in the fourth ward. In the latter park it was through his careful superintendence that it was made presentable during the past season, the grass was kept down, substantial concrete walks were constructed, trees trimmed and useless ones removed, and the grounds improved in many ways. Mr. Smith settled in Janesville in 1861, and since that time has been identified in many successful business enterprises, and is at present engaged in the coal, wood and ice trade, being of the firm of Smith & Gately. His record is a clean one—both private and public. He is a man who will do honor to the position the people of Janesville will call him to fill on Tuesday next.

Mr. P. S. Fenton received the nomination for city clerk, an office which he has filled very acceptably for the past term of two years. Mr. Fenton was put forward as the representative of those who bear unmistakable evidence of having participated in the war for the union, and as a token of that struggle he carried at his right side an eagle's sleeve. That he will be retained in the office by an increased majority there is no doubt.

John Brown, ever popular with the voting masses, and who proved his popularity last spring by distancing the field, received the nomination for street commissioner. This is an office carrying with it much responsibility. While the street commissioner is directly under the control of the common council, and can do nothing, not even purchase a pound of nails without special or general directions, it is generally conceded that Street Commissioner Brown has performed his duty well while in office.

That he has some enemies in and out of the council is to be expected, as but few men holding public office are free. That Mr. Brown will receive that cordial support he deserves there is no question, and he will be re-elected.

No better nomination could be made for school commissioner than that of Dr. E. E. Loomis. He will, it is elected, of which there is no question—take an active interest in our public school matters and will be found the right man in the right place.

Not wishing to ignore the fact that many are striving to eliminate politics from the judiciary, the republicans very considerably voted not to place a republican candidate in the field for justice of the peace, a position which has been so ably and satisfactorily filled for some years by Judge M. B. Pritchard; and notwithstanding the fact that Judge Pritchard is a pronounced democrat, the convention adopted a resolution placing his name on the ticket for that office. He will be unanimously elected, as he should be.

George H. Davey received the nomination for seal of weights and measures, the nomination being by acclamation, and his election ought to follow in the same manner.

It is with such a city ticket that the republican party of Janesville appeals to the voters of the city for approval, and to each the Gazette gives its heartiest support and commendation, trusting that the appeal to the people on Tuesday next will be heard and approved.

Expand the Mind.
 By seeing as much as you can of the world. But never go out either as a tourist, a commercial traveler or emigrant—whether you go by rail, steamship or steamboat, provide yourself with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which the traveling public recognize as the finest medicinal safeguard and preventive of sea sickness with which any one journeying by land or water can be provided. It furnishes to the western pioneer adequate protection against malaria, rheumatism, and those disorders of the bowels which miasma tainted water beget. Its sedative effect upon a stomach perturbed by the rocking of a ship is truly magical, and it is a capital appetizer and nerve invigorant. Excellent for biliousness and kidney inaction, and it counteracts, in a remarkable degree, the effects of fatigue, physical or mental. After wetting and exposure in inclement weather, it should be used as a preventive.
